

Page D – Setting and information page

The page layout varies with your selection. It is either the setting page in which the parameters can be adjusted, or the information page which only provides additional information.